DETAILED ACTION

This is a detailed action of application number 09/909/423, Decorative Gift Bag Balloon Holder, filed on 7/19/01. Claims 1-16 are pending. Finality of the action dated, 7/30/02, paper no. 8, has been withdrawn and prosecution of the present application has been re-opened. Any inconvenience to the applicant is regretted. This action is non-final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 8-13 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 8 cites that the "core [is] being held to the interior of the lower portion of the inner liner and the decorative material [is] being held to the interior of the upper periphery of the inner liner". [emphasis added].

Claim 1, from which claim 8 depends cites that the "decorative [is] material secured to the core". [emphasis added].

It is unclear how the decorative material could be secured to the core and the upper periphery of the liner when the core is at the bottom of the liner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 6, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by United States Patent No. 5441348 to Valentino.

The patent to Valentino discloses a decorative bag having a core (16) that has sufficient weight to hold at least one buoyant balloon in place and secured within the decorative bag (See Col 2, line 51), and decorative material (20) secured to the core in a position to conceal the core from casual view. Valentino also discloses where the decorative material is formed from a length of decorative sheet material having its upper portion cut into a series of strips adapted to extend outwardly from the decorative bag and its lower portion secured around the periphery of the core, held within the decorative bag. (See Col. 2, line 66-68 and Col. 3, lines 1-5). Valentino teaches handles (14) extending from an upper portion thereof to serve as an attachment for a string of one or more balloons.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over United States Patent No. 5441348 to Valentino as applied to claims 1-4 and 6 above, and in view of The Party Balloon, dated 2/2/01 found on the internet at:

<http://www.thepartyballoon.com/products.html>

Valentino discloses applicant's basic inventive concept, all the elements which are shown above with the exception that Valentino does not show the upper portions of the handles being secured together.

The Party Balloon web publication shows a decorative bag whereby the handles are secured together, used in order to be able to tie balloons to the handles. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made from the teachings of The Party Balloon web publication to have secured the handles taught in Valentino together, in order to be able to tie balloons to the handles.

Art Unit: 3632

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-13, and 16 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
